~~VARIETY~~ indigenous wildlife. THEY'VE ADAPTED TO THEIR HABITATS.

BEAK ADAPTATION

All the animals are regional variations of Ren and Stimpy. eg: We show how the different beak shapes of the "Asthma-Hound Chihuahua" have adapted to particular environments and food sources.

Horny Billed Chihuahua- has adapted its beak to crush nuts.

Needle Billed Chihuahua- beak adapted to rooting for insects in hollow logs.

RARE OCCURENCE SOFT SHELLED STIMP.

On one particular island Ren and Stimpy happen upon an extremely rare occurence. They are thrilled to witness the "Giant Soft-Shelled Stimpy" as it crawls out of the ocean and slowly, painstakingly drags itself to a quiet spot and lays its eggs in the sand. This only happens every 30 years. Then mysteriously, the creature drags itself back to the sea. Where it goes, nobody knows.
